

ARE YOU LIVING UNDER VULNERABLE CONDITIONS?

THE CONSULATE HELPS YOU GET BACK HOME

If you are living under vulnerable conditions, or if you have a relative who is, you can go to the consulate to request assistance to go back to Mexico.

The repatriation program for people in vulnerable situations offers advice and support to get everything ready.

Who can receive support?

Unaccompanied minors

Sick people

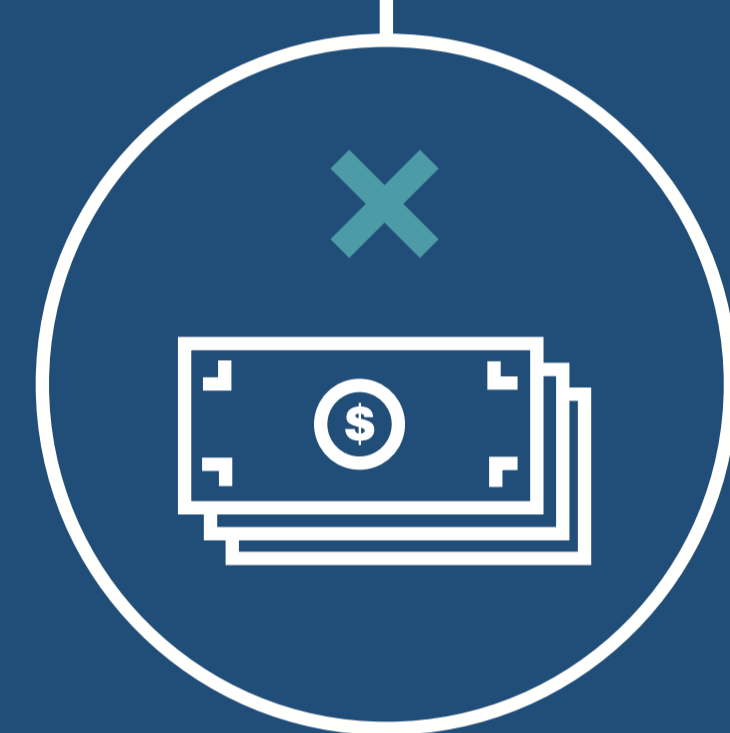

Pregnant women or women with infants

Disabled People

Old people

People in temporary insolvent situations

What do I need to receive this support?

You must be Mexican, submit all the required documents (proof of identity and nationality) and comply with the provisions set forth by the consulate. Go to the nearest consulate and ask about this program.

Please consider that:

Repatriations take the person to the closest point of his/her place of origin, and they depend on transport availability

Applicants who are not in indigence situation will commit to reimburse repatriation expenses completely to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs

This support is granted just once and it cannot be combined with resources from another protection program
