

WHAT OPTIONS DO I HAVE AS A PARENT IN CASE I AM DEPORTED?

If you are going through a deportation process, it is very possible that you have to decide whether to leave your children in the United States or take them with you to Mexico. It is not an easy decision, and it depends on the different family arrangements you may have, whether you have joint custody or not and if certain conditions in the United States allow you and your family to guarantee the safety and proper care of the children.
